Weekly Panui – Monday 28th August 2017

Thank you to all of our parents who have signed on to our School Dojo accounts. This programme allows the teachers to communicate with you instantly—sharing messages, photos and updates. We can communicate with you individually or as a group. You can post comments publicly or reply to us individually. We use ClassDojo to encourage important skills like working hard and participating. All of your child's information is kept safe as only they, their teachers and you can see their information. We are now working on setting up the student accounts so they work on their own stories. Everyone plays an important role in creating a positive school community. ClassDojo creates a safe space for connecting parents to the classroom. Teachers can give feedback to students which the parents can view too. From the mobile app, parents can then message directly with teachers and myself, as well as see beautiful photos and videos of classroom learning moments.

STUDENT TEACHER IN ROOM 4

We have accepted a request from the University of Canterbury to host a student teacher on Tuesdays. Stacey Scott will be working alongside Mrs Pearson to learn basic management and planning skills. She contacted our school as she has heard such positive comments in our local community. Stacey has recently moved into the area. She is living on a small block in Ngakuru with a number of livestock. Stacey is excited to gain experience working in our Room 4 classroom and throughout the school over the course of her degree studies. If you see her around the school please make her feel welcome. This will be a mutually beneficial relationship and we welcome eager learners into our

WINTER SPORTS TOURNAMENT

We have entered 2 hockey teams in the Sport BOP Winter Tournament (Tuesday 26th September). Our Year 3-4 hockey players form a midgets team, and we have entered our Year 5-6 hockey players in an A-Grade team for a real challenge!

BUSINESS ACUMEN IN GPA

As part of our finance studies we have been carrying out The Apprentice style projects each Thursday morning. Last week the students had to put together a whole marketing campaign for a company and product they had created as their project the week before. Each project team has 4 members, they appoint a project manager to spearhead the task then they spend 2-3 hours developing the project for presentation at the Board Meeting. This team is sharing their campaign for Erbiting—a Monster Truck production company. The other team created a campaign for their ice cream company—Flavour Savers. There are so many skills involved with these projects—maths, reading, writing, video making & editing, graphics, team work, Co-operating, brainstorming, time management, public speaking etc. Week by week they are growing in so many ways with these projects.

HOME LEARNING IN ROOM 2:

Joshua Inwood studied a typical grocery docket from his house to learn about need & want purchases. He got a little help from his mum.

Courtney McKay created a kiwi out of icing & jam. She was helped by her nanny.

Anastasia Wickliffe-James constructed a kiwi from papier mache & craft materials. Her mum and dad helped.

Flynn Wheeler made a kiwi out of kiwifruit (fittingly!). His mum gave him a hand.

Taylor Cathcart modelled a kereru (wood pigeon) and karearea (NZ falcon) out of modelling clay. He then built a habitat with a falcon's nest with eggs to display them in. His mum & dad helped.
