Weekly Panui – Wednesday 1 August, 2018

Kia ora,

At the Board of Trustees meeting last night we began the process of reviewing our school charter ready for 2019. The charter tells our community what we are going to do and what we value. In turn the charter is based on input from the Community - that means you! There will be several opportunities for you to have a say about the big picture of learning at Waikite Valley School for 2019. From this the staff will develop programs of learning and organize activities to bring this plan to life.

You may have heard that the NZEI are taking industrial action on the 15th August. The Board has determined our school will remain open for instruction. In practical terms this means most students will not attend school that day. Next week will be seeking expressions from those families that need their children to attend school for the day. A special program will be run by the staff members who are not a part of the union. There will be more details in next week's newsletter.
